We desire to remind the public that, having the largest brewery in this inter-mountain region, equipped with the very latest improved machinery, we are enabled to manufacture a quality of beer that is absolutely unsurpassed by any other made in the United States, and by far superior to any other produced in the west. We use only the choicest imported hops and select Utah barley; and, facilitated by our spacious cellars, are enabled to give our product that age that produces the desired delicate flavor, and makes it the wholesome beverage that proper age alone will accomplish in beer. We always have in stock a very large quantity of our excellent "Extra Pale Premium Lager Beer," "Culmbacher" and "XXX Stout," and in the near future will place the finest quality of "Bock Beer" on the market that has ever been

There is gambling going on in the city, there are a few toughs and some confidence men as there always have been, but that the city has fallen into a hopeless state of moral turpitude is not true. That it is in a worse condition now than it has been for the last ten years is not true.

A representative of The Herald called upon the police authorities last night with the specific object in view of ascertaining the exact state of affairs. Nor did the investigation stop there, but several gambling resorts were visited and the results are about as follows:

There is in the city at the present time six well-regulated gambling resorts as such institutions go. This is about the same number that has existed for years and all are doing business at their old stands. They are not as well patronized now as when money was more plentiful and the keepers guard against admitting minors about as well now as in years gone by.

Of the first resorts visited the reporter could not find a single person under the age of 21, but there were a great many over that age.

QUIET GAMES.

In addition to the regular gambling houses there are a great many "quiet games" and two police shops running. The "quiet games" may be in the back rooms of saloons or they may be in private rooms. It is an evil; the police and all well disposed citizens admit that, but sensible people are loath to let that no administration backed up by any power on earth, has yet been able to stamp it out.

Considering the fact that a great many toughs and criminals are attracted this way by the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight in this respect is no worse off now than it has ever been in fact, a comparison of the number of thefts and petty offenses—such as grave offenses for that matter—makes a showing in favor of the present administration.

Then there are a few confidence men in the city. They have been here for years, and reference need only be made to Chapman of lock fame, who has operated in fact for years and flourished in his business, particularly during the regime of Chief Pratt.

There are a great many slot machines in the city, and the majority of them are gambling devices, pure and simple. These are neither licensed or allowed on the street. The only nickel-in-the-slot machines allowed on the street are trade machines—a device used for selling samples of soap, chocolate, candy, etc. These machines have always been allowed on the street since their invention; and there are none of more than now than in years gone by.

The Civic Federation has sprung into existence for a commendable work, and the same conditions confront today as we would have found if they had organized themselves for the work several years ago.

POLICE ARE VIGILANT.

The police department is vigilant, and no toughs are allowed to stay in the city. Petty thieves are being apprehended almost every day, and convictions are being secured.

Said Chief Pratt: "There are gambling houses, possibly, being conducted in the city, and we are giving our attention to them as far as possible. Occasionally some hard crime work comes and camp with us for a few days. With the limited force I am doing all I can to afford protection to the people of the city, and I think the department is succeeding very well. As for effort, however, that shall be put forth for the permanent betterment of the city shall receive my hearty endorsement and cooperation."

Captain Eslinger had very little to say except that he believed the police department was regulating gambling and prostitution as well as ever it had done. So far as the city has been interested in the rift-rat of all that is filthy and vile, he denied it. There were, of course, some hard men in the city, but no city is without them, and the record of crime during the past few years does not show any increase in this respect.

The police, as a department, has vastly improved. They work with a determination to prevent crime and work harmoniously and effectively. The time when half the energy of the members of the department was devoted to scheming and plotting against each other, until half force had arrived at almost a chaotic state, is not so far distant that it has been obliterated from the mind of the public. The contrast now is great, and Chief Pratt said the entire force are to be congratulated on the change which has come about.

THE CITY'S MORALITY.

We Have Not Fallen Into Hopeless, Moral Turpitude.

EVILS EXIST AS THEY HAVE EXISTED FOR YEARS.

There is Room for Improvement as Ever, and the Civic Federation, if it Works Intelligently Can Do Good—The Police Are Active and Vigilant and Doing Better Work Than For Years.

Appropos of the organization of the civic federation which has for its chief aim the moral purification of the city it may be of interest to review the situation. The word has gone out that the city was never in such a morally degraded state as at present, being infested with thieves, toughs, confidence men and bunco steers, and that all sorts of villainies were witnessed almost on every corner. So far as these claims have for their purpose the arousing of public sentiment they may be of some value, but a close and fair investigation demonstrates that they are wide of the mark when compared with the naked truth.

There is gambling going on in the city, there are a few toughs and some confidence men as there always have been, but that the city has fallen into a hopeless state of moral turpitude is not true. That it is in a worse condition now than it has been for the last ten years is not true.
